

SNRS 32nd Annual Conference Sponsors

Host School and Opening Reception Emory University

Emory University's Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing is committed, through its faculty's research and its PhD program, to improving human health and health care through the discovery of new knowledge and its translation into practice. Visit us at Booth 100 for information about the PhD program and faculty positions.

Tote Bags Baylor University

The Baylor University Louise Herrington School of Nursing emphasizes the nurse's calling to Learn. Lead. Serve.® We offer Traditional and FastBacc BSN Tracks; an online MSN Leadership and Innovation program and DNP programs, FNP, NNP and NM Tracks. We're also prominently ranked in U.S. News & World Report. Learn more at www.baylor.edu/nursing

Opening Reception

Augusta University

Georgia State University

Since 1968 our school has been at the vanguard of nursing education. Today it offers a premier multicultural learning experience for top-notch future leaders, clinicians, scholars, and researchers. It also provides a solid and unmatched foundation of programs spanning all levels: ADN, BSN, MSN, PhD, DNP, and post-master's certificate programs.

Mercer University

Founded in 1902 as a school of nursing, Georgia Baptist College of Nursing is the longest established nursing program in Georgia. Over its 115-year history, the College has graduated more than 7,800 nurses. The College remains dedicated to educating the person, fostering the passion, and shaping the future of nursing. The College merged with Mercer University in 2001 and offers a Bachelor of Science in Nursing, a Master of Science in Nursing, a Doctor of Nursing Practice, and a Ph.D. The College of Nursing is one of four academic units within the Mercer Health Sciences Center located in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mobile App University of South Carolina

We invite you to join in the University of South Carolina's momentum with over 1700 students in undergraduate and graduate nursing programs shaping the future of nursing's workforce. We have a thriving research agenda with three focal areas: vulnerable populations, cancer survivorship, and health promotion/risk reduction. The college's nurse practitioner faculty operate a primary care clinic bringing quality health care to low-income neighborhoods in Columbia and provide real-world practice for our students. Visit our website at www.sc.edu/nursing.